

WHAT PEOPLE SAY ABOUT US

When Lynn first approached me about The Ivey, her passion and commitment were contagious. Since that time, I have become as passionate as Lynn about the program and mission of The Ivey. Having a high quality, convenient, and cost effective option for seniors to socialize with their peers as well as access medical care during the day serves a critical need in this community.

Dale Halton, Retired CEO, Pepsi-Cola Bottling Company of Charlotte and Philanthropist

As one of the original pioneers who helped Lynn develop The Ivey, I knew from the beginning that this was an important service for our community. My mother-in-law was one of the first to attend The Ivey when it opened. The loving, compassionate, professional staff treated her to exercise, excellent food, socialization and fun that my family was concerned she might be missing since she lived alone.

David Dooley, CEO, RT Dooley, A Balfour Beatty Company

As someone who knows all too well the challenges and heartbreak of having a loved one affected by the devastating Alzheimer's disease, I am proud to support the vision and mission of The Ivey. The caring and supportive community that The Ivey is building ensures that seniors are not isolated in their homes but provided with the socialization and community that is so essential to their well being. This not only enriches the quality of life for those "aging in place" but provides a necessary respite from the exhaustion of daily caregiving.

Marian Nisbet, Owner, Interiors Unlimited and Community Leader

Growing old is not something we like to think about, but the reality is that we need to create an infrastructure of additional options for serving the increasing aging population. The Ivey is building a network of service providers in the Charlotte Region. Collaboration drives efficiency and allows organizations to survive, and The Ivey is leading the way.

Hugh McColl, Retired CEO, Bank of America and Community Leader
